

Basic Web Design: HTML and CSS | 6.01 Final Project Assignment (rubric)

	Novice 1 point	Competent 3 points	Proficient 5 points
Project Requirements	Your website includes some, but not all, of the required elements. It includes few, if any, complex elements such as nesting lists, tables, divs, floating elements, or multimedia.	Your website includes all of the required elements, including the more complex elements like nesting lists, tables, divs, floating elements, and multimedia.	Your website includes all of the required elements as well as multiple examples of more complex elements like nesting lists, tables, divs, floating elements, and multimedia.
Layout	The elements on some of your web pages are difficult to view or read. On most pages, there is not enough space between and around elements to make the page easy and pleasant to view.	Most of your web pages are organized in a way that makes the page easy and pleasant to view. Most pages include sufficient space between and around elements.	The elements on your web pages are arranged in a way that creates a strong sense of unity and is aesthetically appealing. All pages include sufficient space between and around elements and are highly readable.
Source Code	Many of your HTML and CSS files lack the kind of organization and functional commenting that would make the site easy to maintain and update..	Most of your HTML and CSS files are well organized and include functional commenting that will make the site easy to maintain and update..	All of your HTML and CSS files are well organized and include functional commenting that will make the site easy to maintain and update..
Usability	There are some aspects of the way your web site is built that might prevent visitors from finding information or navigating easily from page to page. Its internal and external links may not be descriptive enough to guide users through the site.	Your web site is built in a way that allows visitors find information and navigate easily from page to page. All internal and external links are both functional and descriptive.	Your web site is built in a way that helps visitors find information and navigate easily from page to page. All internal and external links are both functional and highly descriptive. Overall, its usability would be considered exceptional by most visitors.

The assignment item in Blackboard includes two other important documents

- The Final Project Instructions
- The Final Project Requirements Checklist. Use this to ensure your site meets all the requirements.